To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend the services of Pacific Medical Training. Over the last year, I have been working with their team as one of our prime training vendors to support the development of our civilian workforce in the US Army. The great customer service, knowledge, patience, and attention to detail are highlights of the experience I have encountered with them during every engagement. They continue to deliver our requirements in a timely manner with flexibility and ease. Even during the transition with our funding platform, they have been more than helpful to ensure our operation continues to move forward.

I feel confident in recommending Pacific Medical Training to fulfill additional support requirements to the government through GSA contracts.
